He states that, judging from his own experience and reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has probably been more successful in relieving and curing these diseases than any remedy known. Bilou—"Thurston, the Magician." Forbea-Robertson's Acting. Of course, the feature about "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," which Forbes-Robertson brings to the Academy Saturday, matinee and night, is the remarkable acting of the distinguished English actor. A profound student of the drama itself, Forbes-Robertson undoubtedly outshines all the members of his art to-day. But it is not alone these qualifies that are felt in his interpretation of the course of the will play here, unless it may be said that they have been wedded together with a sensitiveness as the HOTEL ST. "Twelfth Night." The John Marshall High School Dramatic Club will present its annual play Thursday and Friday hights of this week at the Academy. There has been no lack of expenditure, either of time or money, in order to make this play a success. The play itself is one of the most amusing of the Shakespearean dramas, and the pupils cast for the parts are the beat the High School affords in histrionic ability. Mr. Curtis and Miss Van Vort constitute the coaching corps. As Caesario, Miss Jeannette Stearns has shown great skill in interpreting her part. Miss Glady's Hewlitt makes an admirable Olivia. In both her scornful and pleading attitude she is incomparable. Miss Marion Walterstein enters into the character of the elever minx with great zest. To be a successful comedian is an exceptionally hard feat, but Chas. M. Montgomery, impersonating Sir Andrew Aguecheek, is fully capable of handling the part. As Sir Toby Betch, H. Robert Phinney shows considerable tasient. Moses Breitstein, as Maivollo, is worthy of a good measure of consideration. The clown, one of the most amusing parts in all Shakespearean drama, is impersonated by Jack Diggs. The role of the lovers, Duke Orsino and Sebastian, impersonated by Walter S. Galeski and Morgan R. Mills, Jr. respectively, is very well portrayed. The other players also deserve much credit. V. P. I. Defents South Carolina.
